FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Cleveland, OH, October 22, 2009—Move over network reality shows! Got City Game! Cleveland, the city's own web-based reality show, has begun shooting in various neighborhoods around town. Three teams representing Cuyahoga Community College, Hiram College and LiveCLEVELAND! are the stars of this web-based reality show. At the helm of the action? - Its host, Jason Zone Fisher.

Clevelanders immediately recognize both the Zone and Fisher names from area politics but Zone Fisher is a celebrity in his own right. In fact, one might think that acting, not politics, is in his blood.

At age 9, he landed the lead role in Cleveland Playhouse's production of "Conversations with My Father." In 1999, he co-hosted the weekly, Emmy-nominated program, "Browns Blitz," a teen/young adult market interview show highlighting players and coaches.

In addition to his work on a number of television commercials and theater productions, Zone Fisher has been a radio correspondent on WDOK and WCPN, special correspondent on WKYC, youth correspondent on CBS National News and is currently a regular contributor to The Huffington Post.

Zone Fisher may now be found hosting Got City Game! Cleveland in the Tremont, Detroit Shoreway and St. Clair Superior neighborhoods as well as in University Circle and Downtown Cleveland.

Five webisodes of Got City Game! Cleveland will air every Wednesday beginning November 11, 2009.

*Got City Game! (GCG) is a non-profit talent-attraction initiative intent on creating a concrete shift in people's attitude and perception of the Learning, Earning and Living assets of Northeast Ohio. It has been awarded the Cleveland Foundation's Civic Innovation Lab Grant, been honored as "Heroes" by Employers Resource Council for its talent attraction impact and selected for the "Best Of Cleveland" in Scene magazine.
